Company Policy Statement

Maxpak Australasia Pty Ltd specialise in the purchasing, receival, storage and distribution of the entire range of food grade packaging materials, plastics and kitchen consumable products.

It is our objective to ensure that all products are received, stored and distributed by Maxpak Australasia Pty Ltd, are received by our clients in a condition that meets or exceeds their expectations and requirements.

Quality and safety is achieved by complying with the legislative requirements detailed below and applying the associated international standards to ensure that all potential hazards are recognised and controlled during all processes. Maxpak Australasia Pty Ltd complies with:

- The principles of HACCP (Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Point);
- Food Standards Australia New Zealand (FSANZ) Food Standards Code "3.2.2 Food Safety Practices and General Requirements";
- Food Act 1984 (Victoria).

The purpose of these standards and requirements are to maintain and apply specific principles for safety and quality to our processes and is central to the effective operation of our establishment. These requirements include those for food businesses and food handlers that will ensure food does not become unsafe or unsuitable.

The Good Housekeeping Principles outlined in this Food Quality Management System are applied to maintain the safety and quality to all products under our control.

Our Food Quality Management System specifies process control requirements to adequately control all potential hazards at each step of the product handling process.

The management team are seeking to continuously improve our operation through ongoing training of our employees and constant reviews of our systems and procedures. We will ensure that all employees are aware, trained and perform to the levels required at this establishment.

The directors, management and employees at Maxpak Australasia Pty Ltd fully support our Food Quality Management System and associated procedures and are committed to continuous improvement to ensure ongoing product integrity, quality and safety.

This commitment was last reviewed on 8th July 2026

Signed: Mel Ngaou
Team Leader